

Wominjeka!

We welcome you warmly to Charcoal Lane: a building that holds as much of a story as the vibrant community that have called it home since its earlier incarnation as the Victorian Aboriginal Health Service in the 1970's.

The building and its surrounding laneways quickly became a wider community centre and meeting place, to gather and share stories as well as advocate and support. Continuing in this tradition, since 2009, Charcoal Lane has been serving up much more than just a meal; the exciting array of native Australian flavours is one aspect of a multi-faceted approach to alleviating labour force exclusion for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander young people.

Here, we celebrate the cultures, heritage and flavours of the First Peoples and the true heart of the nation, as well as offering one of Victoria's most thoroughly unique dining experiences per the intriguing flavour profile and intricate pairings of an under celebrated cuisine. Head Chef Greg Hampton is passionate about growing and using native Australian ingredients for over 25 years, drawing on his extensive experience to show our students around the rigours of the kitchen, and utilising contemporary cooking techniques to create a truly modern menu befitting Melbourne's ever more diverse and discerning culinary scene.

All profits and donations go directly to making sure we can keep doing what we do: supporting and empowering the individual and the community through supported pathways in traineeships, apprenticeships and specially targeted training modules in front of house and the kitchen, to ensure the trainees' confidence and continued success in the industry.

So thank you for dining with us, we're more than happy to have you. Together, we can transform lives.

Yaru is a unique partnership between an Aboriginal family of the Bundjalung Nation and family owned Mount Warning Spring Water Company. Yaru naturally came into being as a result of a family friendship and a shared vision – to unite, share & close the gap on disadvantage in indigenous communities. By joining forces and establishing Yaru, the Bundjalung people and Mount Warning Spring Water have created a vehicle for change, with proceeds generated from the sale of Yaru Water used to facilitate indigenous leadership programs, imparting Bundjalung cultural teachings while utilising Mount Warning Spring Water facilities & resources.

Red Dust was initiated by Outback Academy Australia to partner with Jasper Coffee; the crux of this partnership is to support the mentoring initiatives and the ambassadorial efforts of the Red Dust Heelers, a group of Aboriginal and other athletes with disability. The Heelers aim to empower Indigenous young people, with or without disability, to lead, mentor & inspire self-respect and to heal their cultural and social hurt.

Levies from sales of the coffee blend will directly go to helping train more trainers, support existing courses and enable funding for infrastructure programs as needed, and to assist the ambassadorial efforts of the Red Dust Heelers.

Sparkke are a for purpose alcohol company & social enterprise aiming to raise awareness and funds for important social issues. Sparkke's range of beers and wines are each dedicated to a specific cause, with a percentage of all sales flowing to partner organisations

Art at Charcoal Lane

During Year 12 VCE I decided to do a folio based on Modern foods with Aboriginal influences for Food and Technology. I realised how much native food enhanced modern food and how much that connection to my culture through food meant to me. Through Charcoal Lane I have already got to experience what it's like to work in the kitchen and have got to see what influences of native food they have fused in with modern food.

I am a proud Goreng Goreng woman who moved to Melbourne about four years ago. Charcoal Lane helped me connect to local community and young people my own age. I have completed my Certificate III in Catering Operations with Charcoal Lane and this year I will commence university studies at ACU. I will also be working casually with Compass Group a catering business that I connected with through my work at Charcoal Lane. It has been an amazing journey both personally and professionally and Charcoal Lane has become like a family to me.

I am a young Yorta Yorta woman who has lived in Werribee my whole life. My mother always made sure we had connections within our community. I dropped out of school at the beginning of year 12 and spent 6 months working in fast food. Since I joined Charcoal Lane I had the opportunity to live and work in Uluru and participated in many events and community gatherings. I know how much my community and our involvement all means and contributes to every success the people have fought for.
